WAR CAUSED BY MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN, PADRE TELLS VETERANS AT SHARON SERVICE

St. James' Anglican church, Sharon, held its annual harvest thanksgiving on Sunday. A special feature of the service was a parade of war veterans of East Gwillimbury and district, there being representatives from Mount Albert, Newmarket and Roche's Point.

The address was given by Rev. R. J. Shires, rector of the church of St. Jude, Toronto. Speaking to his comrades in a conversational tone the "padre" quoted the old psalmist, "Thou crownest the year with thy goodness." The first picture drawn was that of God's love, and benefits derived, when men and women co-operate with Him.

In the second picture, the speaker painted the horrors of war, which "in essence, have been brought about by man's inhumanity to man, and when man ceases to walk with God, and ceases to love his neighbor as himself."

The musical part of the service was under the direction of Mrs. J. O. Little, Rev. A. J. Forte, the rector, Rev. A. J. Patstone and his choir of St. Paul's church, Newmarket. The special soloist was Miss Lillian Holborn of Sutton.

A great and happy service was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem, a moment of silence for the fallen comrades in the first great war, and the sounding of the "Last Post" by Bugler Frank Burling of Newmarket.

The service was in the charge of the rector, Rev. A. J. Forte. The church was packed to the doors, and the interior was decorated very prettily with flowers, fruits and vegetables. At the close of the service, the ladies of the W. A. of St. James welcomed the veterans, choir and clergy to a social hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Grose. The members of the congregation thank very much all those who contributed towards the success of this happy occasion.

AIR ALARMS DESCRIBED IN LETTER HOME

NEWMARKET GIRL TELLS OF
LONDON AIR RAID
PRECAUTIONS

Following is an extract from a letter written by Mrs. Edward Norcott of London, England, to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Russell of Newmarket. Mrs. Norcott was formerly Miss Joline Russell, Newmarket.

"I hope you are not worrying too much about me being in the war area, it really isn't so bad and we are in a reasonably safe district. Aside from being scared out of our wits by air-raid signals everything seems much the same as before war was declared. No doubt you read in the papers about the warnings. The first one came just after we finished listening to Mr. Chamberlain's declaration of war on the radio. It was the worst, as we thought for sure that the whole German air force was on the way over. "I was just stuffing a delicious leg of pork for our dinner and had to leave it to tear down to the basement. All the other tenants were down there looking very scared and sick, and it was a big relief when the 'All clear' sounded. I never thought I would see the day when Eddie would lose his appetite, but he certainly did then and he and the Doc didn't do justice to the pork at all. It was good too. "The next warning came at about 3.30 the next morning and it certainly makes your hair stand up to hear the sirens wailing after being wakened up out of a sound sleep. We grabbed our gas-masks, first-aid kit (my blue-bag fitted out), flashlight, blankets, cigarettes, and gum, and dashed down again to the basement in our bathrobes and slippers. There we met all the other tenants again and one woman with a little boy was in such a hurry she came down in her bare feet. The 'All clear' sounded in about half an hour (Page 7, Col. 5)

Sutton Has Score Tied In Seventh But Fails To Forge Through

NEWMARKET BOYS ONCE
AGAIN HOLD SILVER
TROPHY

SEASON WOUND UP

After a long play-off grind, the Newmarket Redmen are again winners of the Patterson trophy, emblematic of the championship of the York-Simcoe softball league.

This was accomplished by defeating Sutton on their home diamond by a 7-6 score last Thursday evening. Newmarket has won the championship three out of four years.

Finishing a two-out-of-three, hard-fought series with Richmond Hill, the Redmen emerged victorious to qualify for the finals with Sutton in a best three-out-of-five game series. The "B" league in Simcoe county did not put forward a challenger for the trophy, due to the late season.

Each and every game in the finals was a closely contested affair and although the more experienced Newmarketers won the series three games to one, a great deal of credit is due the Sutton club, in this, their first year in the league, to qualify for the finals and put on such a sterling exhibition of ball as well as clean sportsmanship. Newmarket drew first blood in the second inning, bunching their hits together to push four runs across the plate before the third put-out was made. Sutton pressed hard in their half and were rewarded with two runs. The Reds added one run to their total in the fourth inning and were held scoreless until the seventh, and last, when Peters drove a long, hard-hit ball to deep centre, which resulted in a homer and incidentally the winning run. The Suttonites scored two runs in the fifth inning and one in the sixth and had the score tied at the beginning of the seventh.

Niles started on the mound for Newmarket but got into difficulty in the sixth inning when Webster took over the chores and handled them very nicely. McNeil was on the mound for Sutton with Burkholder receiving.

Town Is So Affluent It Pays Accounts Before Due

CLAIM AGAINST ONTARIO
HYDRO STILL NOT SETTLED

If Newmarket stocks were low at 57 Adelaide St. E., Toronto, as stated by town council members at their meeting last week, they should now stand high.

Since the meeting a week ago Monday, when it was declared that York county council was gunning at the Newmarket police court, the town has prepaid its county levy, N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor, told the town council on Monday evening.

"We have prepaid our county levy, which is not due until Dec. 20," said Mr. Mathews. "We get 4 1/2 per cent interest on it. We still don't owe any money to the bank. We haven't owed any since July 1."

"What about the Hydro bill?" asked Councillor Frank Bowser. "We haven't paid it in recent months, but we have the money in the bank," said Mr. Mathews. "How are you getting along?" asked Mr. Bowser.

"We were down to see the Hydro on Friday," replied Mr. Mathews. "There will be a report soon."

CRACKS RIB
Mrs. W. J. Thompson had the misfortune to crack a rib when she slipped on the back porch steps on Monday while potting some plants.

MARJORIE GUY WEDS
ARTHUR T. GAUSBY

Rosedale United church was the setting for the choral wedding on Wednesday afternoon of Marjorie Loreen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Henry Guy, when she became the bride of Arthur Tamblin Gausby, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gausby. Rev. McGregor Grant officiated. The church was decorated with Jersey beauty dahlias and pink coleus in clusters and standards. Mr. Eric Lewis was at the organ. Miss Helen Simmie sang "Life and Love," written by Miss Bertha Tamblin, aunt of the groom, during the signing of the register.

The bride walked up the aisle with her father and was preceded by the choir boys singing "O Perfect Love," and was gownwed in a broad-based satin gown with light fitting bodice, long sheath-like sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The full skirt swept into a full-length train over which fell her veil of French tulle which was caught to her head by a simple square halo of pleated net trimmed with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of lily-of-the-valley and white orchids.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Guy, as maid of honor and Mrs. Orville Clarke, matron of honor. Miss Mildred Gausby and Miss Nadine Baird, Kingston. They were gownwed alike in white tulle frocks featuring the mid-Victorian silhouette with the bustle back. Their headresses were of white ostrich tips with veiling falling from the back to the shoulders. Their bouquets were of Dresden shaded gladioli and dahlias.

The groom was attended by Mr. Glynn Lewis, groomsmen, and Mr. Edward Fraser, Mr. Gordon Burton, Mr. Holland Smith, Mr. John Stockwell and Mr. William Gausby were ushers. A reception followed at the Granite club. Mrs. Guy received in a gown of blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies. Mrs. Sherwood Hart, aunt of the groom, received with Mrs. Guy, wearing a gown of black lace with fox fur and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Following the reception the bride and groom left on a motor trip to the Laurentians and on their return they will live in Toronto.

Mr. printers take pride in their workmanship.

SABOTAGE INSURANCE PURCHASED BY TOWN

Protection against "sabotage" was added to other forms of insurance carried by the town, at a council meeting on Monday evening. The sabotage policy, costing $100, will cover the water-works, the Srigley pump-house and the town hall.

"It looks good to me," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd when W. S. McGhie, of A. E. Wilson & Co., Toronto insurance brokers, proposed the additional coverage to the council.

The town's insurance premiums for the coming year total $2,700, of which $1,800 is for fire.

Councillor Wm. Dixon asked if it was necessary to take the new sabotage policy for three years. "It is cheaper," said Mr. McGhie. "If the war doesn't last that long, you will receive a rebate."

Councillor Frank Bowser asked what was the proper way to deliver an assessment slip.

"If it goes out of town, mail it," said N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor. "In town, deliver it."

"If the party is not at home, can the assessor mail it?" asked Councillor A. V. Higginson.

"Yes, it is permissible to mail it," said Mr. Mathews.

Mayor Boyd cautioned Mr. Higginson, chairman of the relief committee, to arrange now for the relief committee's winter supply of fire-wood, as "it may go up in price $2 or $3 a cord."

A discussion took place as to whether the finance or property committees should put prices on town properties bought at tax sales.

"Finance committee," said Councillor Wm. Dixon, chairman of the property committee.

"The finance committee are no better judges of the value of real estate than the property committee," said Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale for the finance committee.

"Finance committee," said Mayor Boyd.

"The barbed wire fence put around the Srigley St. pump-house is to keep people from getting out, not to keep them from getting in," said Mr. Dixon. He said that the only reason for turning the top of a barbed-wire fence in is that usually the property-owner does not own the land outside, but that that reason does not exist in this instance.

The question of accepting responsibility for a Newmarket man in a Toronto institution with an incurable condition, likely to be a public charge for the rest of his life, was left with Deputy-Reeve Vale assisted by Mr. Mathews. The only question involved was whether the institution in which he had been staying in Toronto was a house of refuge or not. If it was a house of refuge, said Mr. Mathews, he would not acquire a Toronto domicile and Newmarket would still be liable. Mr. Mathews thought Newmarket liable.

At seven the entire crowd packed the church hall and after a short sing song a number of movie films were shown including "Beautiful Ontario," "Birds of Canada," "Holland Days," "A day at the Zoo," and a special of the recent visit of the king and queen to Canada. A vote of thanks to the town and the committee, and three cheers brought a happy afternoon to a close.

D. S. T. ENDS
Daylight saving time comes to an end early Sunday morning. That means that clocks go back an hour, and the evenings become suddenly shorter.

BREAKS ARM

Falling off the overhead ladder in Trinity United church gymnasium yesterday afternoon, Allan Hopper, grandson of Mrs. Duncan, Millard Ave., received a broken arm.

YOUNG AND OLD ENJOY
TRINITY UNITED PICNIC

The old darkey song says "slay in your own backyard." Trinity did it and found it most enjoyable. Of course, that is the implication. You must have a backyard and keep it attractive.

Owing to the measles epidemic it was impossible to organize the annual picnic in the summer so it was held yesterday. The response of the children and members of the congregation was most encouraging. About 150 arrived soon after 4.30 and engaged in a program of sports, games, contests and stunts. Each department carried on separately under the direction of an enthusiastic committee.

Many snaps were taken during the afternoon and a group photo will remind many of a very pleasant afternoon. The town very graciously closed off Park Ave. from Main St. to Church St., to ensure the safety of the children.

OFF-PEAK POWER AGAIN

The town council has begun again to discuss off-peak power. The water and light committee has proposed heating of the town clerk's office and council chamber with off-peak electricity. This electricity is going to waste at the present time, and, even though heating by electricity might be extravagant for private individuals paying commercial prices, most municipalities adopt some scheme to even up the "load." When we say that the electricity is going to waste, we are inaccurate. It is being paid for but is not being used by Newmarket. The town pays its electricity bill to the Ontario Hydro-Electric each month on the basis of the greatest demand for any 20-minute period during the entire month. If the average demand during the month is away below the peak, that is, if the town is selling a lot less electricity than it is paying for, that is the town's tough luck. C. C. Rachar, town electrical engineer, told the town council the other night that this discrepancy is 800 horsepower. As an example, the town is paying for say 1,600 (the peak) horsepower and is using an average of only 800 horsepower.

The Right Thought

The first thought of a good business man is how to even that up. The city of Toronto uses its flat-rate hot-water heaters to keep its consumption chart level. The water and light committee, in the person of Mr. Arthur D. Evans, the chairman, has intimated that his committee hopes to sell some of this town's off-peak power to the citizens for hot-water heaters. The committee is already selling some of the off-peak power to its dual personality, the water department, to operate the pumps. Another chunk is being sold to both water and light departments to heat the water-works and power distributing plant. Now Mr. Evans hopes to sell another chunk to (we suppose) the property committee to heat the town office building.

How It Is Controlled

This power could be shut off and on from the water-works, and would be shut off whenever the consumption rose close to the previous peak for the month. This might be for only half an hour or an hour a day and so would not inconvenience the hot-water subscribers.

Every Possibility Exhausted?

Everyone must agree that the committee is right in trying to find a market for its surplus power. Hot-water heaters are obviously the better market, for they will take power 12 months in the year, whereas electric heaters in town buildings will take power for only six months, and half as much in October and March as in December and January. If it is not possible to find 12-month outlets, either in private homes or in industry, for all the town's off-peak power, then a winter-months outlet would seem the next best choice. Has the off-peak power been offered to local industry?

They Keep Working

In the meantime, we congratulate the committee on its energy.

LAW INTERPRETED

A magistrate in Fort Erie, interpreting a local by-law, found that cooked meat was not a grocery, and that selling it after hours did not constitute a breach of an early closing by-law. Presumably there was no by-law requiring early closing of butcher shops. It would be a little too much to say that cooked meat is neither meat nor grocery.

A FORMER NEPHEW OF UNCLE SAM

The new Canadian minister to the United States, Loring Christie, is in the unique position of having been at one time an employee of the American government. He was assistant to the solicitor-general. Probably one of the happiest experiences in this world is to be able to survey one's former employer as a university graduate would look upon his "prep" school.

FARM OUTLOOK MORE CHEERFUL

One bright spot in this dark world is the prospect that farmers will for a while get a little better price for their produce. Reliable figures have shown that farmers have been selling for less than the cost of production for some years past. How is that possible? It would not be possible if the farmer were not prepared to do without his own wages or to work unreasonably hard or to let his farm run down, in the hope of a change for the better. It has been suggested that there should be no government attempt to curb the rise in price of farm produce, in view of the difficult times the farmer has experienced in the recent past. That seems only reasonable.

Dr. Manion's Comment

Farm prices are going up in anticipation of an increased expenditure of money by the governments of Britain, France and Canada. As Dr. Manion remarked in parliament, it is a harsh commentary on our economic system that we must have war before we can do anything to cure unemployment, or to help the farmer, for to cure unemployment is to help the farmer. Dr. Manion evidently intended his remark in no partisan sense, for he implied that both major parties had failed in their efforts to cure unemployment.

NEEDS AND WANTS

We note the advertisement of a Stouffville grocery firm that it has a "supply of sugar with which we will supply not the wants but the needs of our customers in accordance with government directions." That is a reminder of how far apart often are our needs and our wants. When, however, do wants become needs? A man becomes sufficiently well-to-do to own a motor-car. He drives to work instead of walking. Gradually the car changes from a want to a need. He cannot get along without it. And the world would agree that a motor-car for one accustomed to it and able to afford it is a need.

A Legal View

There are interesting legal discussions in what is known as English case law as to what constitutes a necessity, arising out of the rule that a merchant can collect a debt incurred by a minor for a necessity but not for a luxury. One of the famous illustrations of this point is that glasses are not a necessity for a blind man. That's what a judge said, but someone might disagree with him, for nowadays blind men often wear dark glasses to hide their infirmity or to shield their eyes.

SCIENTIFIC FARMING

Some of our ancestors would have laughed at the soil-testing being carried out in York county at the present time. They would have thought it nonsense. Soil was soil, and they could tell what kind of soil it was from looking at it and from their knowledge of what they had grown in it successfully. What more did they want to know? Of course, farmers have known for a long time that soils do get poor and they have used fertilizers to strengthen them. Even centuries ago farmers knew that they could get better results by rotating their crops and by summer-fallowing their lands. But the idea of soil-testing is new, based on modern analytic chemistry. Instead of spreading fertilizers on the land in the hope that they will contain what the soil needs, the farmer is now to find out definitely what is lacking and put on the soil only what is needed. That means economy.

GRIM FACTS

Forseeing prosperity for Canada during the war, the Financial Post says that "the tragedy is that every turn of the wheel will be made at a ghastly catastrophic cost." It goes on to say that in the last world war it cost $25,000 to kill one soldier. It adds: "The military dead numbered over 13,000,000. Civilian dead totalled over 28,000,000. There were 20,800,000 persons wounded, disabled, blinded. Estimated total cost is said to have been over $500,000,000,000. These are the grim, bitter facts that temper the thinking of all Canadians as economic wheels begin to turn."

COINCIDENCE BY THE GREAT BIG SEA

It seems a coincidence that Col. J. L. Ralston, appointed last week minister of finance, and Loring Christie, appointed Canadian minister to Washington, should both be natives of Amherst, Nova Scotia. Both are lawyers.

CONSCRIPTION OF WEALTH

People who asked in pre-war days that in the event of another war there should be conscription of wealth, if there were conscription of men, were expressing an entirely reasonable and logical thought, in the hope that it would make those who might otherwise benefit from war greater workers for peace. People who today ask for conscription of manpower and conscription of wealth are in effect asking for the conscription of men only. There is no government in sight at Ottawa at the present time which would confiscate wealth for war purposes. A heavy income tax is not what is meant by conscripting wealth. If our governments should be successful in preventing gross profiteering, they will be entitled to great credit.

COURSES COMPULSORY?

If the Huntsville Forester is correct in the following item, Newmarket is in the same difficulty that Huntsville is complaining about. "The local board of education are in a dilemma. The foreseen regulations of the Ontario department of education have been received, and they state definitely that boards of education shall establish a home economics course and a general shop course in each secondary school under its jurisdiction. Now what? There is not any space available in the local schools, and it is expected that failure to comply with the regulations will mean reduced grants with additional costs to Huntsville ratepayers. Had the school by-law passed, the whole question would have been settled."

The Common Round

"WHAT WE SOW"

By Isabel Inglis Colville

We have been hearing a great deal lately about sowing and reaping—both in the moral and physical sense.

All through Canada, from the small garden, with its neat little plots of vegetables, to the vast prairies, where again there is a beautiful abundance, those who sowed are reaping the reward of that sowing.

The housewife is filling her shelves with jellies and jams, and canned fruit and vegetables, and the bins and granaries are being filled with grain and vegetables for man and beast—a mighty bulwark against the time when snow covers the earth and it rests from yielding its increase—we are reaping what we sowed.

These are pleasant things; there are other kinds of sowing that have a less pleasant reaping. Like everybody else in these days of stress and strain, I've been listening to and reading about what a myriad of people deem to be the seeds which have developed into war.

Some of the ideas expressed seem to me to contain more than a germ of truth and some seem to hardly fit in with a sane person's viewpoint.

One writer, whom I've always admired for his clear thinking and truth telling, said that, for the first time in history, two nations, with nothing to gain, and much to lose, were fighting for an ideal—primarily they were helping a smaller nation with the same ideals, to resist aggression, but the real backbone of the war—the cement which is going to bind the democracies together and make them eventually victorious, is their rebellion against might posing as right and their determination to rid the world of the SOURCE of that fallacy, and so give ALL the nations of Europe a chance to trust one another. He evidently felt they would reap as they are sowing.

Then I listened to an American clergyman, from whose sermons I have always gained something. He began by saying that of course every right-thinking American citizen's sympathy was with the allied cause—how could it be otherwise?

The principles for which the democracies are fighting are the very foundation stones on which the United States constitution is built, but, and it was a big BUT—Britain, France, Germany and the United States are now reaping or will reap what they have sowed.

He said, as to the beginning of THIS war, no one doubted as to where the blame should fall, but he said had a juster peace been made in 1918 by France and Britain Germany might never have given birth to Nazism and the United States by standing aloof when her word might have weighted the right side in the scales of justice, was guilty too. He said we are all reaping what we have sowed.

He said that the Nazi leaders will reap what they have sowed—that no leader who has left out or suppressed Christianity has ever reached the peak of his ambition, he will go down to oblivion—or worse.

And then there is a more happy reaping—Canada is to reap the benefit of the long years of good neighbor attitude between it and our friends to the south, for Mr. Roosevelt reiterated at a press conference his statement made at Kingston last year "that the United States cannot let Canada be invaded."

Even if Canada is at war and the United States neutral, the violation of Canada would mean the laying open of the whole North American continent to the invader. As one U. S. commentator said, "If Canada is invaded, we will have to fight anyway."

So line fences, although they must be kept in good repair, to discourage the occasional marauder, yet are no barrier to true neighborliness. We are reaping what we have sowed.

And now, I suppose, we women will reap exactly what we sow. We cannot see the future nor visualize what sacrifices we will be called on to make, but we CAN see the present, and there will be knitting and sewing and paring off bits of pleasure to leave a little more for those who need it.

Women and children are going to suffer more in this war than in any previous war, and it's up to us to "do our bit," to help them.

It is quite evident to us that the farmers of this riding do not appreciate and profit by, as fully as they are privileged to do, the example and experiments of Wm. Some nine years ago, when the member for North York in the Commons purchased this property, it was in an ordinary farm but now it is fast approaching a model of perfection, the aim of Mr. Mulock evidently being to please the eye in beauty and produce the very best financial results from farming operations.

TO THE EDITOR

North Gwillimbury Election
Hollywood Lodge,
Island Grove,
Lake Simcoe,
Sept. 15, 1939.

Editor, The Era: A petition signed by 950 resident and non-resident taxpayers requesting the North Gwillimbury township council at Lake Simcoe to pass a by-law to have the polling booth open at 9 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening, to compare with Toronto voting hours, was first voted on by the council meeting held on Sept. 7 by a three-to-two majority, the motion being moved by Mr. John Hopkins and seconded by Mr. John Smith and a third member of council making a majority vote.

For some reason or other, the reeve, acting as chairman, did not have the vote recorded, and two days after, without being notified by the clerk, I learned from one of the councillors that the matter was left over for further consideration.

"The main object of the petition was to save the Toronto working-men losing his day's pay if he came up to vote, also the business and professional men, school teachers and school principals, the opportunity of voting. We have on our voters' list 1,800 non-resident taxpayers and 1,100 resident. Some of the former have never been able to register their votes in the 15 years, as the hours were not convenient."

Therefore on account of the loss in pay to the working-man, our average vote from non-residents who take the trouble to come up to vote is about 200 only. Some of the councillors use the argument that if the polling hours were made easier for non-resident Tor-

THE CHICKADEES GIVE TIT FOR TAT

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"There!" said Young Chips softly to Merry Chickadee, his mate. "I don't think Handsome, the Blue Jay, will be playing tricks on our children for a while after this."

"Well, come on," urged Merry. "We'd better get out of here, or Handsome will be back and suspect that we have been up to something."

"I certainly hope that our little trick takes his jayship down a peg or two," sighed Young Chips. "It was a lot of work."

"I still think that it would have been easier and better just to follow him around secretly for several days and every time he put an acorn anywhere, we could contrive to attract his attention away from it and then when he went back to it, it wouldn't be there."

"No, that would be lowering ourselves to his level—that of a common thief," disagreed her spouse. "Besides, he would have caught on in no time. Our method is much better."

"Except that we had to call in outside help to accomplish it," said Merry. "We couldn't have managed without Nutty Nuthatch to help us by getting Handsome all excited about a man with a gun that he pretended he had seen and leading him away off on a wild goose chase to find a man who wasn't there at all."

"We could have had our own children help us instead," said Young Chips.

"Oh, mercy no!" exclaimed Merry in horrified tones. "I wouldn't have them know about this for the world. They'd think it was most undignified. Practical jokes always are."

"Well, Nutty knows about it now, and probably he'll forget his promise and tell someone else, and besides, someone probably saw us doing the dirty deed itself and wondered what we were up to," pointed out Young Chips.

"We certainly were very lucky to discover that favorite hoarding place for Handsome's acorns," said Merry. "Although it did take us two days of snooping around to do it."

"It was quite bright of you to remember that Handsome lives chiefly on acorns at this season of the year," Young Chips said to his mate admiringly. "At least it's a better form of food than he has in the spring, when he's apt to sample a young nestling. No wonder the smaller birds all dislike Handsome, and try to get the better of him if they can. He deserves it."

"Oh, the rascal does quite a bit of good in the world, too, as a matter of fact," said Merry unexpectedly. "He eats a good many harmful insects in the summer, you know."

"Don't tell me you're beginning to feel sympathetic toward him, now that we have succeeded in playing a smart trick on him," said Young Chips, his bill going open in astonishment.

"Not at all," denied Merry stoutly. "Besides, we don't know that the trick worked yet. I wish Nutty would hurry and let us know. I would have given anything to have watched the results for ourselves."

"Oh, you don't really think it would, do you?" asked Merry in great concern. "I certainly hope you're wrong. I wonder, Chips, if we were wise, after all."

"Don't worry, my dear, it was a masterly stroke," said Young Chips consolingly. "It's done now anyway."

"No, he'll probably figure out who did it when he has cooled down," said Merry delightedly. "And if I know him, he won't say anything about it to us. And I think he'll leave our children alone."

"It might work just the other way around," said Woody solemnly.

"That would have been too risky," said Young Chips. "Here's Woody Woodpecker. I wonder what he wants."

"Hello, Chickadees," Woody greeted them. "What were you two up to this morning? I saw you whispering excitedly together over by that row of oak trees on the other side of town, and doing something with acorns. Come on and confess."

"Are you sure it was us you saw?" inquired Young Chips cautiously.

"Positive," said Woody firmly. "What were you doing?"

"We'll tell you only if you promise on your word of honor not to breathe a word of this to a living soul," said Young Chips solemnly.

"Of course," said Woody promptly. "Let's hear."

"Well, you know the mean trick Handsome, the Blue Jay, played on Very Young Chips last week," Young Chips said. "And so today we paid Handsome back—that is, if it works."

"We hunted until we discovered the place where Handsome gets his acorns and the spot where he keeps a nice supply of them for his meals," interrupted Merry eagerly. "Then we got Nutty Nuthatch to take Handsome out of the neighborhood while we replaced all his nice, hard, this-year's acorns, that he had put away, with old rotten acorns from last year, which we very carefully filled up with mud. It was quite a big job, but worth the trouble if he only gets a few good mouthfuls of mud. There are lots of old acorns from last year still lying on the ground, you know."

"It worked beautifully," shouted a voice at that moment and Nutty Nuthatch arrived beside them. "You can hear Handsome screaming blue murder all over the countryside. He's hopping mad."

"What happened?" Young Chips asked eagerly.

"Well, he wasn't in a very good humor after I had kept him hunting for that man with a gun, that we never found, all morning," Nutty explained. "But he didn't suspect me. Then, when we got back to his tree, I started climbing up the trunk and began telling him an interesting story, which he was listening to so intently that he just began to bite into those old acorns, that he found where he had left his good ones, without paying much attention. He bit into several and then—was he irritated! He must have got several billfuls of good muddy mud. I tried to be as sympathetic as I could, but I certainly hope he doesn't suspect me."

"No, he'll probably figure out who did it when he has cooled down," said Merry delightedly. "And if I know him, he won't say anything about it to us. And I think he'll leave our children alone."

POLICE COURT

CHARGE AGAINST IRENE ARMSTRONG DISMISSED

After reserving judgment one week a fine of $25 and costs of $25.50, or 30 days, for dangerous driving, was imposed on Sam Gold, Toronto, by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here on Tuesday. The court session was much shorter this week than for the past few weeks, as the proceedings were finished at 12.45.

E. W. Grossberg, Toronto, defence counsel for Gold, served the magistrate with a notice of appeal on the conviction and fine.

"I am making a protest to the court about the nine witnesses called by the crown on this case when they were not needed," stated Mr. Grossberg. "It has been a subject of discussion among a great many Toronto lawyers who come to this court that the crown and the police call many more witnesses than are needed and this is all added to the costs. Only three witnesses were needed on this case and yet nine were called. A man comes up to this court and finds that the court costs are three times as large as the fine."

Crown Attorney N. L. Matthews, K. C., retorted that Mr. Grossberg's protest was not correct and that he and the local police tried to present their cases with as few witnesses as were necessary to bring out the evidence.

The magistrate dismissed the charge of dangerous driving laid against Irene Armstrong, Newmarket, after reserving his judgment one week. The magistrate stated that he would recommend to the department that a license be not granted to Miss Armstrong for the time being at least. C.T.S. Evans, Bradford, was defence counsel.

"The facts in this case are not seriously in dispute and they are as follows," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "The accused girl, 19 years old, was driving her car in Newmarket accompanied by her father, a licensed and capable driver, who was attempting to teach the girl to drive. She was driving south on Main St. and intended to make a left-hand turn onto Timothy St."

"The car was going at 10 m.p.h. when the turn was made. As she made the turn she observed a pedestrian attempting to cross from north to south. This person turned out to be Mr. Muir. Mr. Muir hesitated, then, believing he could get across before the car, he started on. The car, meanwhile, turned and went on. The accused girl did not apply her brakes and, turning to the right, struck Mr. Muir, knocking him down and taking him over the sidewalk, planned him against the bank building. As a result the man died."

"I am satisfied that on the evidence given, if the girl had applied her brakes, the accident could have been avoided," continued the magistrate. "It could have possibly been avoided also if she had driven in a straight line instead of driving to the right. It is obvious that Miss Armstrong did not intend to hit Mr. Muir."

"The evidence is clear that prior to the collision the girl was driving carefully and within the speed limit. The girl was under instructions from her father when she made the turn. When the emergency arose she had to do something to avoid the accident so she turned the car to the right. She acted as reasonably as she could under the circumstances. I find that she made an error in judgment in operating her car."

"You certainly did not drive that car in a capable way and I think that you lost your head," the magistrate told her. "If you do not think you are a proper person to be driving a car, so I'm going to recommend the department not to grant you a license for the time being at least."

On a charge of retaining stolen goods, Peter Wilson, Toronto, was given suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year after Wilson had been remanded in custody one week for sentence. Wilson was last week convicted on a charge of having money orders stolen from the C.N.R. station at Sutton. Wilson had no previous court record.

Convicted on charges of consuming liquor in an illegal place, Donald Powell, Willow Beach, and Vincent Lawrence and W. Brown, both of Toronto, were each fined $10 and costs of $5 and the liquor was ordered confiscated.

County Constable Wm. Hill stated that he found the trio on the old radial right of way in North Gwillimbury, standing around their truck, and that inside the truck he found three full bottles and three part bottles of beer.

On a similar charge of consuming liquor in an illegal place, Kenneth McDougall, Toronto, was also fined $10 and costs of $5 and the liquor was ordered confiscated.

County Constable Ronald Watt stated that he found McDougall in his car and that there were two bottles of rum in the car also. McDougall had been drinking but was not intoxicated, the constable said.

After pleading guilty to a charge of theft of $17 from the Sterling Trust Co., Peter Johnson, Toronto, was given suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year and was ordered to make restitution of the $17 within two months. The complainant was Ned Figliuzzi, King township.

County Constable Martindale stated that Figliuzzi was buying a property from the Sterling Trust Co. and that he sent some of the payments to Toronto with Johnson, who went down frequently. Johnson retained one of the payments he was supposed to pay the company and did not tell Figliuzzi, the constable said. Later, when the company sent a letter to Figliuzzi concerning the payment, Johnson intercepted the letter, the constable stated.

"Figliuzzi couldn't read and I used to read his mail to him and I just didn't read the one letter," stated Johnson.

Mr. Matthews stated that Johnson had served three jail terms within the past three years. Johnson asked for leniency, as he said that he had just passed his medical examination to get into the army before he was arrested and that he wanted to get into the army right away.

CAR DROVE OVER GAS PUMP OPERATOR'S TOE

Convicted on a charge of careless driving, Walter Robertson, Toronto, was fined $5 and costs of $5.10, in police court here on Tuesday.

Thomas Cook, Newmarket, testified that he had trouble occasionally with people cutting across the corner of Yonge and Eagle Sts. in between his service station and gas pumps to try and beat the red light or cut the corner.

"I was standing on the island taking gas from the truck and there was another car parked a little farther on, when Robertson drove right through between the pumps and station, without stopping. The truck driver yelled at me and I stepped back, but the car caught my toe and went right on and some people in the back seat turned around and sneered at me."

Albert E. Day, York township truck driver, stated that there was very little room for the Robertson car to pass between the pumps and station that day and that Mr. Cook was nearly struck by the car.

"In my opinion it is a very dangerous practice for cars to use that road as a means of passage," stated Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson.

Robertson testified that he turned in toward the station to get some gas, then he remembered that he had left his purse at his cottage at Muskegon Lake, so he drove right on without stopping at the pumps.

"Your offence consists of driving too quickly across the corner and you endangered the life and property of the people there," stated Magistrate Woodliffe.

Also convicted on a charge of careless driving, Robert H. Roos, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs. County Constable R. Watt testified that he followed Roos for three miles at a speed between 30 and 35 m.p.h. and that Roos was weaving from one side of the road to the other. "I stopped the car and questioned Roos and he told me that he had been at a party and was very sleepy and that he was not aware that he was weaving across the road, Roos was not intoxicated and after he got out of the car and walked around for a while he was alright and I let him drive on."

A charge of keeping liquor for sale laid against Wm. A. Russell, East Gwillimbury, was adjourned two weeks so that another witness could be called. A. J. G. Wilson, Aurora, was defence counsel.

on the old Bradford road," stated Constable Watt. "The operator went into the house with two marked quarters and he returned to us again in about half an hour. After receiving information from him, Sergeant Barraclough and I went into the house on the authority of a search warrant. We asked Russell to show us what he had in his pockets and he produced the two quarters among some other change. On searching the house we found 300 quarters of ale in Russell's bedroom."

"Would you have stopped Russell if he had attempted to go away while you were in the house?" asked Mr. Wilson.

"No," answered Constable Watt. "Russell was not under arrest at that time and he was not even arrested later."

When asked the same question a second time the constable gave the same answer.

"Wouldn't you have stopped him if he had started to go away?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, I guess we would have stopped him," replied the constable. "Then I submit that Russell was technically under arrest at that time if you would have stopped him if he had attempted to go away," stated Mr. Wilson.

"Would you have retained Russell if he had wanted to walk away while you were there?" Mr. Wilson asked Constable Barraclough.

"No, we wouldn't have stopped him, as we had nothing on him then. However, after he gave us the information we would have held him."

"I again submit that Russell was under arrest and that he should have been given a warning that any statement he made might be used," stated Mr. Wilson. Magistrate Woodliffe agreed with Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Matthews stated that under the circumstances the case would have to be adjourned two weeks, so that the operator could be called to testify.

A charge of not paying wages of $60 laid against John Stentford, Queensville, was adjourned until Nov. 7 to give Mr. Stentford time to make the payment. Lorne G. Leo, Aurora, was defence counsel.

John Bellar testified that he started to work for Stentford on April 1 and that he was to work for seven months at $18 a month. "I was to receive some spending money during the seven months and at the end of that time get the balance of the money. I left on Aug. 25, as Stentford didn't seem to like my work."

Mr. Leo stated that Mr. Stentford was willing to pay the money owing to Bellar but that he should be given till the end of the seven months, as Bellar left without any notice, before his time was up.

Rev. C. E. Fockler's sermon at Keswick United church on Sunday morning was on Dr. Moffatt's translation of Exodus 3: 14: "And God said unto Moses I will that I will be and he said thou shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, 'I will be that I will be' hath sent me unto you."

Stressing the power of human will, Mr. Fockler said, "There can be nothing done until we will to do it. There are people who will to have. War is the result of an un-Christian social order. The answer to our fears and worries is to be found in prayer, in sympathy, and in love. Nations may remain neutral, but in religion there can be no neutrality."

The choir sang a special number very nicely. Evening service is each Sunday at 7.30 p.m. Rev. Mr. Fockler having for the past two Sundays preached very fine messages on Old Testament characters.

At the meeting of the executive of the Sunday-school, held on Monday evening, it was decided to hold the annual promotion and rally day service on Sunday morning, Oct. 1, for which a special service is being planned. Reports were given by Mrs. E. Morton and Mrs. Pedlar. Mrs. Perry Winch very ably reviewed the concluding chapters of the study book, this was followed by a most interesting talk by Miss Fockler, who in a delightfully informal manner told of her experiences in northern Ontario, where for several weeks last summer she had conducted daily vocation schools. It was a fittingly appropriate finish to "The World in Canada."

It was decided that in the near future the W. M. S. would be responsible for the sending of a suitable bala to these families who are deserving of any assistance.

Mr. printers take pride in their workmanship.

MAPLE HILL LANGSTAFF Y. P. U. IS GUEST OF MAPLE HILL

St. Andrew's Stresses Music, 140 Students

ATTENDANCE OF ST. ANDREW'S NOT GREATLY INJURED BY WAR

CADETS CARRY ON

St. Andrew's College carries on as usual. The attendance is 140, about three or four down from last year, when it was the largest in the school's history. Four or five English boys are in attendance on account of the war, and there may possibly be more.

"All member schools of the Canadian Headmasters Association are working together to make an arrangement by which all private schools will act together, with equal distribution of students and equal costs," Headmaster Kenneth Ketchum told The Era. "We don't want to capitalize on this dreadful situation." St. Andrew's has lost a few students for economic reasons arising out of the war, and also has gained a few boys who had intended to go to England to school. On the whole, the school attendance has suffered as a result of the war, but not nearly as badly as might have been expected.

The school's capacity is considered to be 150.

The school cadet corps, always a big feature at St. Andrew's, is not being emphasized any more than usual for the time being.

"Boys must keep their minds off war as far as possible," said Mr. Ketchum. "We don't think it is the duty of a boy of 17 or 18 to think in terms of enlisting. We should all wait to see what the call is. We all know what they would do if the call came, but in the meantime we get no-

JUNIOR CHOIR PROVIDE MUSIC AT RALLY SERVICE

Rally day service was held on Sunday morning when the Trinity United church Sunday-school occupied the south side of the auditorium. Dr. E. J. Thompson told the children's story. The promotion exercises were conducted by E. H. Clarke with the assistance of the department supervisors. A junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Willis, provided the music.

where by going off untrained. Our cadet corps always is a major activity, but there is no greater emphasis."

The boys are experiencing a little difficulty with the new "form three" and other drill changes, but are already entered into their cadet training for the year. It is obligatory for all boys over five feet three inches in height.

The cadet corps is affiliated with the 48th Highlanders, and the boys all love the kilts and pipes. They wear the Gordon tartan. There is a full pipe band as part of the corps.

Rugby is in full swing. Every boy who is physically fit takes part in games every afternoon.

St. Andrew's is greatly increasing music instruction. Every boy in the school takes music this year. Guy Ouchterlony has been appointed as instructor.

Another new staff member this year is Charles Sweeney in the lower school.

Two new houses are being erected for married teachers and will enhance the appearance of the already beautiful campus.

BILL JUMPS TO $250 FROM $12

As the town's largest user of water, Archie Cousins, of Cousins Dairy, asked the town council meeting as a committee on Monday evening for treatment equal to that received by the Aurora tannery.

Mr. Cousins said that in common with other meter-users, his firm was charged ten cents a thousand gallons for the first 50,000 and eight cents thereafter, whereas the tannery was charged only seven cents.

The council did not take any action. Mr. Cousins has delayed for some time paying his water accounts until he receives what he considers fairer treatment.

A substantial increase in water consumption by the dairy had preceded the change to meters, The Era was told.

Mr. Cousins told The Era that until about four years ago all commercial users were charged a flat-rate of $12 a year, and that his bill has now jumped to about $250.

He said that the town has a surplus of $3,000 from an annual water revenue of $12,000, which indicates that the water is being sold at a substantial profit.

"The town has a wonderful business," he commented. Mr. Cousins indicated that he would invite all meter-users to approach the council together.

PEDIGREE DOG DIES OF POISON

Betty Boulding's pet, Talarera Loyalist, died yesterday from point poisoning. The 11-year-old wire-haired terrier ate some of the paint being used in the new Aurora clinic.

RED CROSS TREASURER IN LAST WAR, MRS. J. WILLIS AGAIN RECEIVES NOMINATION

The report of the nominating committee as accepted at the meeting of the local unit of the Red Cross Society gives the following permanent executive:

hon. presidents, Sir Wm. Mulock and H. W. Fleury; hon. vice-president, J. M. Walton; president, Mrs. H. J. Charles; vice-president, Miss E. Lemon; secretary, Mrs. J. F. Church; treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Willis; buying committee, Mrs. P. M. Thompson; finance, Mrs. Gordon Baldwin.

BOX FOOTBALL NOW SCHEDULED TO START

With baseball a thing-of-the-past, tennis in its final stages, golf now on the outside peering in and hockey and skating viewed in perspective, box football, otherwise called abbreviated or baby football, seems to be the last resource for the sports-minded.

At the present time the lads are negotiating for the use of the rink, which is necessary for playing space, and hope to form an industrial league comprised of the Collis Leather, foundry, Sisman's and town teams.

The league was quite successful last year and the boys hope to make a repeat performance. The cycling club are also thinking seriously of entering a team and will cause plenty of worry to the other clubs if their entry is accepted.

O. RICHARDS IS JUNIOR TENNIS CHAMPION

QUARTER CENTURY OF SERVICE RECOGNIZED

A consistent 25-year service with the Aurora Fire Brigade places the name of Charles "Kid" Harman on the honorary membership list of the Aurora fire brigade, Chief Frank Rowe told The Era.

Although residing in Newmarket since his recent departure from Aurora, Mr. Harman was well known to the local sporting element, while both he and his wife played prominent parts in the activities of the Horticultural society.

Replacing him on the staff of the fire-fighters is George Patterson. Charles Griffith, a former member of the brigade, also residing in Newmarket at the present time, leaves another vacancy in the department. Wm. Hadfield, who was slated for the position, has now joined the army.

WILL LIVE IN HOLLAND LANDING

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Aurora United church on Saturday afternoon, when Hazel Adelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Collard, became the bride of Eric Elden, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Goodwin, of Holland Landing. Rev. Dr. E. J. Thompson performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. A. G. Channen of Bradford.

Miss Helen Fisher, cousin of the groom, was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mr. William Neale, of Toronto, played a violin solo.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin. Her finger-ring veil was caught with white gardenias and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Lois Goodwin, sister of the groom, wore a frock of green taffeta with matching head dress and carried yellow roses.

The ushers were Mr. Reynolds Goodwin, brother of the groom, and Mr. Kenneth Kitching. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Kennedy St., where the bride's mother welcomed the guests in a navy blue sheer ensemble with corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in black and pink lace with matching corsage.

The couple left by motor for New York City, and on their return will live in Holland Landing. For travelling the bride wore a black suit with pin stripes and white accessories.

AURORANS CONTINUE TO OFFER SERVICES

Aurora's young men, married and single, are continuing to offer themselves to all branches of the army but only a few have been accepted. The following have been accepted:

Bob Howard, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard, formerly of Saskatchewan, now residing on Temperance St., Aurora, has signed up with the Royal Canadian Engineers and left for Fort York Armories Monday. He was employed by the Fleury-Bissel foundry of Aurora and is unmarried.

Also signing up with the Royal Canadian Engineers is 26-year-old Bill Hadfield of Yonge St., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. G. Hadfield of Welsh, Wales. He is married to the former Miss Verna Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Calhoun of the Aurora Orchards. He also has a 15-months-old daughter, Rosalie.

SHOE COMPANY MAY GET ARMY CONTRACT

The T. Sisman Shoe Company was among those firms which tendered for the recent government contract for "army" shoes. Only three other plants in Ontario are equipped to make this type of shoe, and unless something unforeseen happens Aurora shoemakers will soon be doing their bit towards equipping Canada's fast growing army.

PHYLLIS BARR WED ON SATURDAY

Miss Phyllis Barr was guest of honor at a number of gatherings prior to her wedding on Saturday last.

Miss Mabel Fisher entertained at her home on Wellington St. where Miss Barr was presented with a "coffee drip."

In Cannington, a group of girls belonging to a Sunday-school class joined in the presentation of an end table.

Neighbors met at the home of Mrs. Bassett, where a miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Barr, and a community shower and social evening was held in the schoolhouse.

Miss Barr was transferred from the local 5c to 10c store to Cannington. Her husband is a popular member of an orchestra, as well as a farmer, and to them go the best wishes of both communities.

Thanksgiving day, Oct. 9, will be the scene of the annual ten-mile road race sponsored by the Aurora cycling club. A ton of coal will be awarded to the winner of the lucky draw.

The race is open to any rider in the vicinity of Newmarket and Aurora and it is expected that a record crowd will be in evidence for the meet. This race will probably be the final for the club's riding activities this year in view of weather conditions.

VOLUNTARY REGISTRATION FAILS TO DRAW WOMEN

The Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women has failed to arouse the interest of Aurora's women-folk. In the first two days, Monday and Tuesday, only 16 women had answered the invitation to register for national emergency service.

NEW YORK, TORONTO AND AURORA ACT DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME COMES TO AN END ON SUNDAY MORNING AT 2 A.M. AURORA FOLLOWS NEW YORK, IT IS SAID HERE, AND TORONTO FOLLOWS BOTH AURORA AND NEW YORK.

BEES DID NOT HOARD ENOUGH

Although this was a poor year for honey, and he has no particular need of extra customers, C. A. Kirk, the honey man, north of Yonge St., has experienced quite a rush of business this week, probably due to the use of honey as a substitute for sugar in preserving peaches and other fruit.

Mr. Kirk was away when The Era called, inspecting other people's bees for the government, in company with Carl Lee, Mount Albert.

His housekeeper, Mrs. N. J. Bolton, was quite enthusiastic about the use of honey for sugar. It could be used to advantage, she said, in coffee and in cakes. Unfortunately, she said, there had been only half a harvest of honey this year because of the dry season and the poorness of the basswood and buckwheat.

FORMER AURORAN IS NOW HIGHLANDER

Fred Teasdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Teasdale of Temperance St., was in town on Saturday, wearing the tartan and kilts of the famed Toronto Scottish with whom he is now enrolled. Since his marriage in 1939, Mr. Teasdale has resided in Toronto.

ERROR IN REPORT CAUSES FLURRY

A false impression as to the present state of the real estate market and the value of property in Aurora has been created by a report of the sale of an Aurora property for $2,000 more than actually realized. The Era has been informed.

The property of Mrs. Henry Harper was sold at $4,000, and not a price of better than $6,000, as incorrectly given out. Following publication of this report a number of other citizens whose properties are for sale wanted to know why they couldn't get a similar price.

AURORA GAINS TWO MORE EX-EXECUTIVES

Two new members were this week added to the fast growing colony of retired business executives who have decided to make Aurora their permanent residence.

B. E. Hamby of Toronto, former manager of the London Life Insurance Company, has recently purchased the spacious home of E. C. Fielding, Yonge St. south, and has already occupied the premises. Interviewed by The Era, Mrs. Hamby expressed their complete satisfaction with the desirability of Aurora as a permanent place to make one's home. "We have admired the scenic beauty for many years, and the fact that we are so close to Toronto enables us to keep close contact with our friends who still reside there. Aurora undoubtedly is a friendly town."

J. A. Goodall, one-time executive with the T. Eaton Co., who is now the owner of one of Aurora's finest homes, having purchased the residence of Mrs. Henry Harper on Catharine Ave., says that the altitude, healthy climate and excellent water, remind him of some of the European health resorts, particularly in Switzerland, which he has visited. He also commented on the attractive and well-kept stores, and stated these were in his opinion a credit to local business men, being particularly suited to cater to the tourist trade.

AURORA CLINIC WILL SOON BE OPENED

The new "Aurora Clinic" will soon be completed. Its modernistic design is a striking addition to Aurora's architecture.

Adjoining Dr. C. R. Boulding's house, it contains two consulting rooms, a bedroom, a surgery, an x-ray room, waiting-room and laboratory. Dr. Boulding will have x-ray and metabolism equipment.

League Hastes Not To Prove Case - Mayor

FAIL TO PRODUCE ONE OF ITS ALLEGED COMPLAINTS

"CAME BY PHONE"

A salutary effect on the speed of motor traffic through the town has been brought about by the recent publicity over Aurora's alleged speed-trap, but there is also reason to believe that Aurora business has unfairly suffered to some slight extent.

Mayor J. M. Walton showed The Era this week the great file of correspondence that has accumulated over the matter. Private citizens of the province had written to him both in commendation and criticism of the town's policy.

There has been no report yet from the attorney-general's department on the promised investigation, Mayor Walton said. The town presented its case, but the Motor League, which caused all the publicity, for one reason and another has delayed in presenting its case, he said.

Mayor Walton said that the Motor League was unable to produce one written complaint to support its claim that motorists were complaining about Aurora. League officials said that the complaints had come in by telephone.

"We challenged the attorney-general's department to show where we were at fault," said Mayor Walton. "They were up and couldn't find fault with our signs or the place where we timed the motorists."

Supporting a statement that the publicity had injured the town, Mayor Walton quoted one letter which he had received as a result as follows: "I wouldn't

W. A. ARE PLANNING INTERESTING EVENT

Plans were made at the W. A. meeting at the United church on Thursday last for an "imaginary bazaar" to be held the second Thursday of October, which will be the next regular meeting. Tea will be served by the various groups. Mrs. F. Teasdale, president of the W. A., is in charge of arrangements.

even buy gasoline if I were stuck at the four corners. I would send out of town for it."

Others had written commending Aurora. Among these were Rev. J. R. Wilkinson, Toronto, and John A. C. Kemp, French River. The latter said: "Often I have wondered why you didn't clamp down before."

Mayor Walton said that the words "Strictly Enforced," of which he did not himself entirely approve, had been put on the town speed limit signs at the suggestion of the attorney-general's department.

"I have been promised shortly the result of the annual traffic census, taken this year on Sept. 2 and 4," the mayor said. "Our traffic is tremendous. We have all the trucking, including tremendous loads from the Holland Marsh. The freight yard has been moved from the C. N. R. to Yonge St."

"Our traffic prosecutions are below any other municipality in northern York county in proportion to the traffic we handle."

As a result of the war Mr. Walton did not see any early prospect of remedying the Yonge St. "bottle-neck," the project of the recently formed Yonge St. Improvement Association.

Firemen Propose Bingo Games Under Red Cross

DOUBT HARBORED IN HEARTS OF SOME CITIZENS ON WISDOM

Heart-searching is being caused over the question whether the newly-formed Red Cross Society should accept an offer from the Aurora fire brigade to be a partial beneficiary of regularly-held bingo games.

The firemen put the question up to the Red Cross at a meeting on Saturday evening, when a majority vote was passed in favor of accepting the offer.

The town council meeting as a committee on Monday evening stalled on the question of giving the firemen the use of Mechanics' hall for the purpose.

One lady identified with the Red Cross work recalled to The Era that the last war had been the means of introducing gaming practices for war purposes and had contributed to what she considered a "looser" public attitude toward gambling.

"I do not favor receiving something for nothing, but in these things we must bow to the will of the majority," she said.

In the meantime one of the council members spied the following item in the "Questions and Answers" column of Tuesday evening's Toronto Star: "A ruling was given last year that bingo games may be held occasionally by charitable or religious organizations, where the proceeds were for charitable or religious purposes. Bingo could not be legally played at all fairs. See Sec. 230 of criminal code and amendment to Sec. 226, Statutes of Canada, 1938."

"The firemen need funds, but the Red Cross regulations are very strict about the Red Cross name being used by other organizations for their own benefit," the council member told The Era. "Everyone will give to the Red Cross."

GUIDES NIBBLE ON CORN FOR FIRST FALL OUTING

The Aurora Girl Guides, under the leadership of Miss Constance Willis, their lieutenant, accepted heartily the invitation extended them by Mrs. Donald C. Hamilton of Old Yonge St. last Saturday afternoon to partake of a sumptuous corn roast and a corn popping bee.

The youngsters, 16 of them, ranging in age from 12 to 16 inclusive, received immense pleasure from their first fall outing as they played games and ate corn till the last kernel had been devoured.

The opening fall meeting will take place some time around Oct. 1.

91-YEAR-OLD WOMAN HEARS SON SPEAK

Last Sunday evening's service at the Aurora Baptist church was of special interest in that Rev. Owen Lloyd was the guest speaker. High School's Vocational Facilities Taken As Model

LOW COST OF NEW COURSES IS PLEASANT SIDE OF ENTERPRISE

Aurora's shopwork and household economics teaching arrangements at the high school are regarded as a model by the provincial department of education, which has sent other high school boards to inspect the Aurora facilities.

And yet the necessary changes and equipment cost Aurora only a total of $5,000, of which the province pays half, and Whitchurch and King townships expected to pay half of the balance. Of the total $3,500 was for equipment.

The teaching and maintenance cost too is low. The high school would have had to secure another teacher for academic subjects if they had not entered upon this project. Instead they obtained a household economics teacher and a shopwork teacher, who take academic subjects in their spare time.

The high school board then offered their facilities to the Aurora public school and to neighboring rural schools, who all make a contribution toward the teaching and maintenance costs. Aurora public school pays its own share, but the government pays the share of Schomberg, King City, Kinghorn, Oak Ridges and Hartman, who have only transportation costs to pay. About 300 town and country pupils, other than Aurora high school pupils, use the facilities.

The net result is that Aurora high school, instead of having to pay another academic teacher, pays about $1,300 a year for having extra academic courses taken care of and for benefits of shopwork and household economics. Grants help to give this pleasing result.

An Era representative visited the school this week in company with Dr. G. W. Williams, high school board chairman.

The household economics room was previously an extra room and had only to be re-decorated and equipped. Miss Ruth Kitching is in charge. The room is extremely smart and modern, with two kitchens, a rolled-out laundry, a dining-room, a bedroom, and a sewing-room. It would be a delight to anyone to work in this room.

The shop-work room was made by sinking part of the girl's basement floor. The room is 39

MANY ENJOY WEINER ROAST AT WOOD'S FARM

A weiner roast on the farm of Mr. Walter Wood of south Yonge St., Aurora, Friday night, was enjoyed by many friends from Toronto besides a few from the home town. Entertaining music was supplied by "Bus" Heise of Mill St. with his accordion, playing popular tunes for a good old-time sing-song.

by 33 feet, and is equipped for wood-working, sheet metal work, drafting and machine shop practice. J. H. Breckenridge is the capable teacher in charge. This room is well-lighted and has a concrete floor. The boys themselves, under Mr. Breckenridge's instruction, set up the iron-pipe tables.

There is no better proof of the value of the new courses than the happy and absorbed appearance of the students at work. Frequently they want to stay after the regular hours, to put in a little extra time on the work they have become interested in.

PHYLLIS BARR WEDS N. J. PURVIS

On Sept. 16, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. T. Robinson, Aurora, by Rev. J. Pugsley, Cannington, when Phyllis Ruth Barr, daughter of Mr. Albert Barr and the late Mrs. Albert Barr, King, was united in marriage to Nelson John Purvis, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. David Purvis, Cannington.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in blue street length dress, with blue accessories and corsage of roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Travis, wore blue figured crepe with accessories to match and carried a nosegay of fall flowers. Mr. Floyd Purvis, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception for the immediate families was held at the home of Mrs. T. Robinson, aunt of the bride.

Later the couple left by motor for the United States, the bride travelling in a rust colored suit trimmed with mountain beaver fur.

V. Wilson gave an object lesson and had made a miniature village consisting of a church, a home, a school and a court-house and it was equally instructive to both grown-ups and children as he had gone to considerable work and had the buildings lighted up by electricity. It was a lesson all will remember. There should be congregations like that always. Why not?

As always, we shall operate our stores and markets with the interests of our customers constantly in mind. We know the hardships that increased food prices can bring to countless families, therefore, our prices will be adjusted only to the extent that is absolutely necessary. You have our assurance, however, that A&P's margin of profit will continue to be very small, and normal in every respect.

Thus we pledge to you and our thousands of loyal customers the best efforts of our widespread organization to keep our prices as low as sound business judgment will permit. We repeat, A&P's policy will be unchanged.... Good foods at lowest prices possible.
